THIS Catalogue gives a list of all the specimens of Mammalia and Birds received from New Guinea, now in the Collection of the British Museum, and a list of the species which have been received from that country contained in other Collections, but which are now desiderata to the Museum.

Tables are added showing the geographical distribution of the species of New Guinea and other neighbouring islands, and of the species found in those islands which have not yet been observed in New Guinea,—the specimens which are in the Museum from these various localities being marked by a double star ().

Descriptions are given of several species which appear not to have been hitherto recorded.

MAMMALIA.

Fam. VESPERTILIONIDÆ.

HIPPOSIDEROS.

As M. Bonaparte has given the name of Phyllorhina to the European Horse-shoe Bats, the genus Hipposideros may be confined to those species of the larger genus which have a large cavity opening with an expanding pore on the forehead behind the transverse hinder part of the nose-leaf (they have distinct pubal teats), thus restricting Phyllorhina to those which have a simple forehead without any pore.

HIPPOSIDEROS ARUENSIS.

Hipposideros Aruensis, J. E. Gray, Proc. Zool. Soc. 1858.

Sooty-brown ; the lower half of the hairs of the back paler ; the hairs of the under side more uniform, or with rather paler tips ; the ears large, broad, rounded at the ends, with two hairy lines on the inner side of the front edge ; face and chin rather bristly, without any membranaceous ridges on the sides outside of the nose-leaf.

Hab. Aru Islands (Wallace).

a. Male. Aru Island.

Length of head and body 2"; tail $\frac{5}{8}$; expanse of wings $5\frac{1}{4}$; length of upper arm bone $1\frac{1}{2}$; length of shin bone $\frac{5}{8}$ inch.

The ears sooty-black ; the front margin of the ears is broad, with a rounded lobe on the basal part near the forehead ; wings broad, thin, sooty-black, bald ; thumb slender, of two subequal joints ; the interfemoral membrane broad, truncate at the end ; the hind legs slender, rather elongate ; feet slender, enveloped in the membrane to the base of the slender equal compressed toes ; the heel-bones elongate, longer than the foot ; tail elongate, slender, attached, and extending a little beyond the end of the truncated interfemoral membrane.

Cutting teeth $\frac{1-1}{4}$; upper large, chisel-shaped, separated by a small space from each other and from the canines ; the lower small, crowded, three-lobed ; canines conical ; grinders — ?

The specimen is unfortunately rather injured about the face ; but it appears quite distinct in form from any of the Horse-shoe Bats I have hitherto observed.

This species appears to be quite distinct from Hipposideros speoris of Timor, which is described as being a little larger than the larger English Horse-shoe Bat, Phyllorhina bifer ; it has the following synonyma :—

Vespertilio speoris, Schneid. in Schreb. Säugth. t. 59 B. ; Shaw, Zool. i. 147.

Rhinolophus marsupialis, Geoff. Cour. 1805.

Rhinolophus speoris, Geoff. Ann. Mus. xx. 261. t. 5. 266 ; Desm. N. D. H. N. xl. 368 ; Mam. 126 ; Fischer, Mam. 139.

Rhinolophe eruménifère, Péron & Lesueur, Voy. aux Terres Aust. Atlas, i. t. 35.

Hab. Timor (Péron and Lesueur).

It is certainly distinct from Hipposideros insignis, Gray, Mag. Zool. & Bot. ii. 492, the Rhinolophus insignis, Horsf. Java, Vesp. cyclope, Deschamps, MSS., from Java, which Fischer confounded with the former, and which has acute ears on the sides of the face, numerous lamellæ under the front part of the nose-leaf, and is $13\frac{1}{2}$ inches in expanse of wings.

PTEROPOUS ARGENTATUS.

Pteropus argentatus, Gray, Proc. Zool. Soc. 1858.

Back white, with scattered black hairs ; beneath yellowish ; face grey, nakedish ; head deeper yellow-grey, with black interspersed hairs ; collar broad, bright red-chestnut, darker brown at the sides and under side, where the hair is longer, forming a kind of ruff ; ears and membranes (when dry) black.

CUSCUS.

Herr Temminck, in the first volume of the 'Monographies de Mammalogie,' published in 1827, divides the short hairy-eared kinds, Cusei, into three species.

At the time he wrote he only had specimens from the northern part of Celebes, brought home by Professor Reinhardt, and from the islands of Banda and Amboyna.

These species evidently depend principally on the colour of the fur, which appears to be very variable in different individuals. It is true that he describes and figures skulls of the different individuals ; but the difference between those of Phalangista chrysorrhos and P. maculata appears chiefly to depend on the age and development of the specimen figured. M. Temminck and the writers of his school always forget that the skull and other parts of the skeleton are liable to quite as much variation from local circumstances, food, and other accidental causes, as the colour of the fur or the size of the animal. M. Temminck characterizes them thus :—

1. In Phalangista ursina the fur is thicker and closer, and the long hairs thicker than in the other species, blackish, with yellow tips to the longer hairs ; and the forehead of the skull is flat. Of this he had several specimens of different ages, all brought by Professor Reinhardt from the northern part of Celebes, the natives of which have not observed any varieties in colouring.

2. P. chrysorrhos is described from two specimens brought home by the same Professor, from some of the Moluccas, which have a short cottony fur, of an ash-grey more or less black, and the rump and upper part of the base of the tail golden-yellow.

3. Of P. maculata Herr Temminck particularly observes, that the fur in all ages and in both sexes is covered with irregular white or brown spots, which are paler and less marked in the young. The very young are sometimes entirely ashy. They come from Banda and Amboyna.

The yellow colour of the rump and the base of the tail, as far as the specimens in the British Museum show, is common to the ashy specimens, which might be called P. chrysorrhos, and the variegated specimens, which might be named P. maculata: it is very difficult to distinguish the pale-rumped ashy ones from those without that mark; but it is easy to connect the grey or ashy-spotted ones with either the one or the other; and it is impossible to separate the ashy-grey spotted ones from the brown or orange spotted specimens. In one specimen the animal is nearly white, with some small dark spots about an inch over; and in another the animal is white, with red feet, and one large red spot on the middle of the back.

From the examination of the specimens in the British Museum, and of their skulls, I am inclined to believe that the P. ursina is distinct, and that P. chrysorrhos and P. maculata are varieties of the same species.

Mr. Wallace having sent two specimens of this genus to the British Museum, to determine them I went over the previous observations on the genus, and examined the numerous specimens which are in the Museum collection, received from the French voyages of discovery, Mr. J. Maegillivray, the Naturalist of H.M. Ship 'Rattlesnake,' and those now sent from the Island of Ula; and I have come to the belief that they are all to be referred to four species, which are very variable in the colour of the fur; one being variable in both the sexes, and the other, in which the sexes differ greatly from each other, but appear to be permanent in their colour; one species in which the furs of the two sexes are alike and uniform in colour; and one, of which the female sex only is known, which is uniform iron-grey.

The two have the ears small, hairy on both sides, and hidden in the fur; the other two have larger ears, exposed beyond the fur and bald within.

1. CUSCUS MACULATUS.

Phalanger, male, Buffon, H. N. xiii. t. 11.

Phalangista maculata, Desm. N. D. H. N. xxv. 472; Temm. Monog. i. 14. t. 3. f. 1-6; Quoy & Gaim. Voy. Uran. Zool. 59. t. 7; Waterh. Mamm. i. 274. f. .

Phalungista ursina, part., Waterh. Mamm. 267.

Phalungista chrysorrhos, Temm. Monog. i. 12; Waterh. Mamm. i. 271.

Cuscus maculatus, Lesson & Garnot, Voy. Coq. Zool. 150. t. 4 ; Gray, Proc. Zool. Soc. 1858.

Cuscus macrourus, Lesson & Garnot, Voy. Coq. Zool. i. 156. t. 5 ; Waterh. Mamm. i. 277.

Ears almost hidden in the fur, clothed internally and externally with fur ; forehead convex ; forehead of the skull convex and rounded in front ; grinders moderate ; fur ashy-grey, or white and grey, or reddish, varied or spotted. Rump and base of the tail yellowish-white.

Hab. New Guinea (Macgillivray) ; Aru Island (Wallace) ; Molucca, Island of Waygeroo (Verreaux).

a. Adult female, from the Moluccas, from the Leyden Museum, sent as C. chrysorrhos. Uniform ashy-grey ; face, throat, chest, and beneath the rump and base of the tail yellowish.

b. Young female, from the south coast of New Guinea. Presented by J. B. Jukes, Esq. Dark blackish-ashy ; head, neck and shoulders paler ; rump and base of the tail reddish-yellow ; cheeks, throat and beneath white ; feet bright red.

The two sides of this specimen are not coloured alike. The forehead of the skull is very convex.

c. Half-grown "male from Daruley Island, brought from the south coast of New Guinea." Presented by J. Macgillivray, Esq. Reddish ; back and thighs darker blackish-ashy ; cheeks, throat, under side, large confluent spots on the sides, the rump and tail white ; feet bright red. Like Cuscus maculatus, Quoy and Gaimard, Voy. Uranie, t. 7.

d. Half-grown "male from New Guinea." Presented by J. Macgillivray, Esq. Like the former, but white, with irregular large symmetrical pale reddish spots on body, limbs and tail.

e. Half-grown "female from Dufaure Island, south coast of New Guinea." Presented by John Macgillivray, Esq. Like the former, but white, with one very large reddish spot on the hinder part of the back ; two large spots on the hind legs, and an obscured indication of a large patch on the shoulders ; the feet red.

f. Half-grown, from the "island of Waygeroo." From M. Verreaux. Ashy-grey cheeks ; back with some white spots ; throat, chest, belly, rump and tail white ; sides white, with scattered, round, nearly equal-sized spots ; feet reddish.

g. Adult male. Aru Island. Sent by Mr. Wallace. White ; body and limbs with small, roundish, rarely confluent, ashy-black spots ; feet white : the skull has a very convex forehead.

Cuscus maculatus, Lesson, Voy. Coq. t. 4, is intermediate in colour and marking between Nos. g and c.

Cuscus macrourus, Lesson, Voy. Coq. t. 5, from the island of Waygeroo, bears a great similarity to No. c ; but the reddish spots are less confluent.

The figure of C. Quoyi, in Quoy and Gaimard, Voy. Uranie, t. 6, looks like a specimen of this species intermediate between the ashy and spotted variety, being ashy with darker obscure spots.

Chrysorrhos would perhaps be the better name for this species, because all I have seen have a yellow rump and base of the tail; but some are not spotted.

2. CUSCUS ORIENTALIS.

♀ ♂ Phalangista carifrons, Temm. Monog. i. 17.

♀ ♂ Cuscus orientalis, Gray, List Mamm. B.M. 84; Proc. Zool. Soc. 1858, t. 61.

♀ ♂ Phalangista (Cuscus) orientalis, Waterl. Mamm. i. 279.

♂ Coescoes, Valentyn, Omst. in Amboyna, iii. 272.

Phalanger, Penn. Quadr. ii. 27.

♂ Didelphis orientalis, Pallas, Misc. Zool. 59; Schreb. Säugth. iii. 550. t. 152.

♂ Cuscus Amboinensis, Lacép.

♂ Phalangista alba, Geoff. Cat. Mus.

♂ Cuscus albus, Lesson & Garnot, Voy. Coq. Zool. i. 158. t. 6.

♂ Balantia orientalis, Illiger, Prodr. 78.

♀ Phalangista rufa, Geoff. Cat. Mus.; Desm. N. D. II. N. xxv. 473.

♀ Phalanger, female, Buffon, II. N. xiii. t. 10.

Cuscus Quoyii, Lesson, Mamm. 226.

Phalangista Quoyi, Quoy & Gaim. Voy. Uranie, Zool. 58. t. 6??; Temm. Mon. Mamm. i. 17.

Phalangista Papuensis, Desm. Mamm. Supp. ii. 541; Bull. Sci. Nat. iii. 64.

Phalangista (Cuscus) maculata, part., Waterhouse, Mamm. i. 275.

? Cuscus albus, Lesson, Voy. Coq. t. 6, ♂?

Ears produced beyond the fur, naked internally; forehead concave. Male white. Female pale reddish-brown, with a darker longitudinal streak; skull with a narrow concave forehead; grinders moderate.

Hab. New Guinea; Aru Island (Wallace).

a. Adult male, from New Ireland, procured from M. Verreaux of Paris; said to have come from one of the expeditions. Pure white; throat yellow; feet nearly bald.

b. A nearly adult male, from the old collection, said to have come from Amboyna. White.

c. Young male? Uniform pale brownish-yellow; throat, chest and belly whiter. From island of Waygeroo; procured from M. Verreaux of Paris.

d. Adult female: ashy-brown, glistened with silvery; throat, chest and belly pure white; back with a narrow uniform longitudinal streak. This is sent as Cuscus Quoyii, Lesson, Mam. 220; Ph. Papuensis of Desmarest, Supp. The figure of M. Gaimard's animal in the 'Voyage of the Uranie,' t. 6, is more like a variety of C. ursinus; but the description agrees with our animal.

e. Young female, from the island of Waygeroo; procured from M. Verreaux.

f. Young female, from Aru Islands; procured from Mr. A. R. Wallace. These two only differ from the adult specimen in the silvery hairs of the back being rather more abundant, but they seem to be deciduous.

Phalangista Papuensis of Desm. was described from a female specimen collected by M. Gaimard, which was afterwards described as Ph. Quoyi. In Quoy and Gaimard, 'Zoology to the Voyage of the Uranie,' it is described as having a darker dorsal line, which rather widens over the loins, which at once shows that it must be the female of P. orientalis.

Mr. Waterhouse has referred both these names without any comment as a synonym of P. maculata, misled probably by Herr Temminck, who (Mon. Mamm. i. 18) states it to be a young P. maculata—evidently overlooking the dorsal stripe.

Lesson, in the 'Voyage of the Coquille,' figures a male animal as Cuscus albus, t. 6, from Port Praslin, New Ireland, which is white, with a narrow black streak, just as in the female of this species.

Knowing the little reliance that is often to be placed on M. Lesson's figures, I suspect it is the figure of a pale or perhaps bleached specimen of a female P. orientalis, in which some fold of the pouch, probably produced from bad stuffing, has been mistaken by the artist for the scrotum of a male.

3. CUSCUS BREVICAUDATUS.

Phalangista nudicaudata, Gould, Proc. Zool. Soc. 1849, p. 110.

Cuscus brevicaudatus, Gray, Proc. Zool. Soc. 1858.

The ears hid in the fur, woolly internally and externally; tail short; the forehead —?; the front lower cutting-teeth broad.

Female uniform ashy-grey; rump and base of tail, throat, chest and belly yellowish dirty-white.

Hab. Australia, Cape York.

a. "A female two-thirds grown, from Cape York." Presented by John Maegillivray, Esq.,

The only specimen known is very like the ashy variety of C. maculatus, but the front lower cutting-teeth are much broader, and the tail, which has the bones still remaining on it, is considerably shorter than any of our specimens of C. maculatus.

The specimen in the British Museum is that described by Mr. Gould.

Mr. Gould refers this animal to the subgenus Pseudocheirus of the genus Phalangista, and calls it P. nudicaudata, because it "differs from all the other Australian members of the genus in having the apical three-fourths of its tail entirely destitute of hair." But Mr. Gould overlooked the fact that it is not a Pseudocheirus, but a Cuscus, all the species of which have the major part of the tail naked; and the species under consideration has the naked part of the tail, and indeed the tail itself, shorter than the rest of the species; so that the specific name of nudicaudata is singularly inapplicable.

The light mark on the rump, which Mr. Gould compared to that of the Koala, is also common to the species of Cuscus, and is probably produced by the habit of the animal sitting on its rump, rolled up into a ball, on the fork of the branches of trees.

The skull shows that the animal is much younger than the label indicates, as it appears only to have the milk teeth, and the broad lower incisors of the younger specimens of this genus. The skull differs both from that of C. ursinus and C. maculatus, but it is too young to predict what may be the normal form of the adult animal.

The front half of the space between the eyes is rather convex, but not nearly so much as the young skull of C. maculatus; and the front of the forehead just behind the convexity described is rather concave; this concavity has no resemblance to the deep concavity occupying nearly the whole space between the eyes in C. ursinus and C. maculatus.

4. CUSCUS URSINUS.

Phalangista (Ceonix) ursina, Temm. Monog. i. 10. t. 1. f. 1-3; t. 2. f. 1-5, skull; t. 3, skeleton; Lesson, Cent. Zool. t. 10; Waterhouse, Mamm. i. 267, part.

Cuscus ursinus, Gray, Proc. Zool. Soc. 1858.

Ears almost hidden in the fur, clothed with fur internally and externally; fur blackish-ash, with larger silvery hairs; head, throat, belly and tail rather pale brown; forehead flat, concave; forehead of the skull flat, deeply concave; grinders large, in a strongly-arched series.

Hab. Celebes.

a. The specimen with its skull, which was obtained from the Zoological Society, and is the specimen described by Mr. Waterhouse in Mammalia, i. p. 268.

The other specimen there indicated as being in the British Museum is a young example of C. maculatus.

In Lesson's figure in Cent. Zool. t. 10, it is represented as uniform blackish-brown, with rather large white-edged ears!

The larger size of the teeth and the flatness of the forehead of the skull at once separate this from C. maculatus.

5. CUSCUS CELEBENSIS.

Ears produced beyond the fur, naked internally. Male and female alike, ashy-grey, grizzled with silvery hairs; the nape and the upper part of the middle of the back blacker, but without any distinct dorsal streak.

Cuscus Celebensis, Brit. Mus.; Gray, Proc. Zool. Soc. 1858, t. 62.

Hab. Celebes; Macassar (Wallace); San Cristoval (Macgillivray).

a. Young animal, from the island of Macassar. Procured from Mr. J. R. Wallace in 1851.

b. Adult male and female, from San Cristoval, Solomon Group of Islands, Dec. 1855. Presented by John Macgillivray, Esq. and F. M. Rayner, Esq. in 1856.

Hypsiprymnus Brunii, Müller, Verh. 63. t. 21-23.

Dorcopsis Brunii, Müller, Verhand. 131.

Dorcopsis Asiaticus, Gray, Voy. Sam. 32.

Hab. Island of Aru.

It is curious that this animal, described as specially inhabiting the island visited by Mr. Wallace, was not sent home by him. It is to be hoped that he did not neglect it, thinking it a common Kangaroo, as it is a desideratum in most museums in Europe.

a. "Aru Island." From the Leyden Museum.

c. *Peramelina.PERAMELES (ECHIMIPERA) DOREYANUS.

Perameles Doreyanus, Quoy & Gaimard, Voy. Astrol. Zool. i. 100. t. 16. f. 1-5 ; Waterhouse, Mamm. i. 386.

Echymipera Kalulu, Lesson, Règne Anim. 192.

Tail naked, rugose, squamose, wrinkled below. Toes 3·5 : the two inner front large, equal ; the outer small ; the inner hind toe short, clawless ; the two index fingers small, united, clawed.

Hab. Aru Island (Wallace).

a. Female. Aru Island.

"The skin is very thin and friable.

"Teeth 46 :—Inc. $\frac{8}{6}$; C. $\frac{1-1}{1-1}$; Prem. $\frac{3-3}{3-3}$; M. $\frac{4-4}{4-4}$." —Wallace.

This enumeration agrees with that given by MM. Quoy and Gaimard, being two cutting teeth in the upper jaw less than are found in the other species of the genus ; hence Lesson considered it as forming a distinct genus. The outer and inner toes of the fore-feet are very small, rudimentary and clawless.

d. Dasyurina.

PHASCOGALE (ANTECHINUS) MELAS.

Phascogale (Antechinus) melas, Müller, Verhand. t. 25. f. 1-3.

Hab. New Guinea (Müller).

The animal differs, according to the figure, in having the hair of the tail rather more elongated and spreading than the Australian species of the genus ; the dentition is more nearly allied to the Antechinus than to the new genus Myoictis sent home by Mr. Wallace.

MYOICTIS.

Myoictis, J. E. Gray, Proc. Zool. Soc. 1858.

Head tapering ; nose acute ; whiskers strong. Tail depressed, tapering, clothed with rather elongated hairs above and on the sides ; the under side flat, nakedish. Feet moderate ; soles bald to the heel ; toes 5·5, free, compressed ; claws acute ; first and fifth front toes equal ; second, third and fourth toes equal, longer ; hinder toes free, weak, distinct, clawless ; thumb of hind-foot larger. Ears roundish, nakedish. Scrotum pendulous.

Cutting teeth $\frac{4-4}{6}$; the upper with a central space in front between them, in a close series on each side, and with a small interspace between them and the canines ; the first tooth very small, hidden in the gums, the others all equal, lanceet-shaped, rather crowded ; the lower forming a continued series, shelving forward, all lanceet-shaped, sub-equal ; the front rather the longest and narrowest ; the hinder rather broader.

Canines $\frac{1-1}{1-1}$, conical ; the upper not quite developed, only slightly produced above the level of the other teeth ; the lower small, conical scarcely raised above the other teeth (figs. 3, 4).

False grinders $\frac{2-2}{2-2}$, conical, compressed ; the lower with a very obscure, the upper with a rather more distinct, conical tubercle on the front and hinder edge (figs. 3, 4).

True grinders $\frac{2-2}{3-3}$; the upper large, triangular, acutely lobed ; the lower compressed, very acutely lobed ; the middle one in each jaw the largest.

The angle of the lower jaw is produced, elongate and strongly inflexed, as is usual in Marsupialia.

Skull : length, 1 inch 3 lines ; width, all the zygomatic arch, 9 lines ; length of the tooth-line 9 lines. Length of the lower jaw $11\frac{1}{2}$, of symphysis $4\frac{1}{2}$, of tooth-line $7\frac{1}{2}$ lines (figs. 1, 2, 3, 4).

This genus is peculiar, because, as far as the dentition is concerned, there is no character by which we should have determined that it was a Marsupial animal ; but the form of the angle of the lower jaw at once shows its true affinity to that group. It was not until a most careful examination of the space between the front upper cutting teeth, that I could find any indication of the front pair of cutting teeth found in the allied genus Antechinus.

This genus is evidently allied to the genus Antechinus of Australia; but it is known at once by its external form, which is just that of a small Indian Herpestes or Ichneumon, having like that genus a depressed tail with long spreading hair, broad and depressed at the base, tapering to an acute tip which bears a pencil of hairs.

MYOICTIS WALLACII.

Myoictis Wallacei, Gray, Proc. Zool. Soc. 1858, t. 64.

Rusty-brown, with interspersed black longer hairs; head redder; throat, chest and belly pale reddish; side of the neck at the base of the ears bright reddish; ears, and the greater part of the tail bright red-brown; tip of the tail black.

Hab. Aru Island (Wallace).

Male. Aru Island.

"In houses as destructive as rats to everything eatable.

"Teeth 34:—Inc. $\frac{6}{6}$; C. $\frac{1-1}{1-1}$; Prem. $\frac{2-2}{2-2}$; M. $\frac{2-2}{3-3}$."—Wallace.

DACTYLOPSILA.

Dactylopsila, J. E. Gray, Proc. Zool. Soc. 1858.

Tail elongate, slender, depressed, densely clothed with fur, with the exception of the under side near the tip, which is bald and callous, the end rather bushy. Ears elongate, rounded, bald, except at the outer sides of the base. Pupil round? The fore-feet elongate; toes very slender, compressed, very unequal in length, quite free; the outer and third or middle toe nearly equal, the second or ring-finger much the longest, the fourth and fifth short, the fifth or innermost the shortest. The hind-feet slender, toes compressed, the two outer toes elongate, nearly equal, the two inner about half the length and united.

Skull (figs. 5, 6, 7) depressed, very broad, with very large expanded zygomatic arches; the face narrow, compressed and nearly erect on the sides, tapering in front; the palate narrow, concave. The cutting teeth $\frac{4-4}{4-4}$; the upper front elongate, projecting in front, rather tapering and truncated at the tip; the second and third compressed, chisel-shaped, close together and to the front; the second small, the third larger; the fourth separated from the others by a small space and placed on the intermaxillary suture, compressed, curved rather like a canine; the lower front very long, projecting in front, curved, rather tapering at the tip; the second, third and fourth small, truncated, separated from each other; the second largest, close to the base of the front tooth; the third small, separated from the second by a small space; the fourth very small, far from the other; and at the base of the front edge of the first grinder, in the space between the third and fourth on the right side of the jaw, is a cavity which appears to have been filled with a tooth like the third one, but there is no appearance of the tooth or cavity on the other side. Canines? $\frac{1-1}{0-0}$, upper small, compressed, conical, tapering like, but smaller than, what I have called the hinder cutting teeth (fig. 7). Grinders $\frac{5-5}{4-4}$, small, in two nearly straight lines parallel to each other, and the hinder ones in each jaw rather smaller than the front ones; the front upper small, triangular; the others four-sided and square, with four tubercles, the outer front tubercle of the second tooth being rather larger than the rest, which are nearly equal among themselves, and the front lower grinder has only one larger tubercle in the place of the two in the others (figs. 8, 9).

Fig. 5.

Fig. 6.

This genus is very distinct from the other genera of Phalangistina, in the elongated and depressed form of the tail, the formation of the fore-feet, and especially in the disposition and form of the teeth, as well as in the broad depressed skull.

The following observations may assist in showing the value of these characters.

Fig. 7.

Fig. 8.

Fig. 9.

In Cuscus the fingers are rather longer than in Hepoona, and the third or middle finger is the longest, the others becoming gradually shorter on each side.

In Phalangista proper (that is Trichosurus of Mr. Waterhouse) the fingers are moderately long, the second and third are the longest and equal, the fourth longer than the first, and the fifth or inner one the shortest.

The hand of the Hepoona is very like that of Phalangista, both in the proportion and form of the fingers; but the two inner fingers are rather separated and opposable to the other three.

The tail, though covered with hair, is very unlike those of the genera Hepoona and Phalangista, and is more like that of a squirrel, but not so bushy; in Hepoona it is tapering and covered with shortish hair, and has a slender tip; in the more perfect specimen of Phalangista it is cylindrical and equally covered with hair on all sides.

In Hepoona and Phalangista the grinders are placed in arched series, and they are much larger compared with the size of the skull than in this genus, and the hinder grinders are larger than the front ones; the front grinder in the upper jaw is larger, more elongate, and compressed.

DACTYLOPSILA TRIVIRGATA.

Dactylopsila trivirgata, Gray, Proc. Zool. Soc. 1858, t. 63.

White; three broad black stripes on the back, the outer ones commencing on the side of the nose, enclosing the eyes, and continued along the side of the back; the central one commencing on the crown and continued to the end of the tail, being narrower at the base of the tail: a large black square spot on each side of the chin, separated by a narrow central line; a large spot on the upper surface of each leg; the sides of the throat greyish, and the sides of the body rather greyish from the dark colour of the base of the fur on that part of the body; the tip of the tail whitish, and the under part of the upper surface near the tip, with a narrow streak ending some way down the middle of the under side of the tail, black; the under side of the tip of the tail is bald, but scarcely callous; the feet flesh-coloured, with few scattered short whitish hairs; the ears nakedish, black when dry.

MYIAGRA LUCIDA.

Myiagra lucida, G. R. Gray, Proc. Z. S. 1858, p. 176.

♂. Black, with the feathers broadly margined with glossy green; quills fuscous black.

Length 7" 3"; wings 3" 9".

a. Louisiade Archipelago. Presented by J. Macgillivray, Esq.

PIEZORHYNCHUS RUFOLATERALIS.

Piezorhynchus rufolateralis, G. R. Gray, Proc. Z. S. 1858, p. 176.

Very like Piezorhynchus nitidus ♀, Gould (B. of Austr. ii. pl. 88), but the bill is shorter and rather broader at base, which is also furnished with longer and stronger bristles. The sides, under wing-coverts and under tail-coverts pale rusty red; the under surface is also tinged with rusty red.

Length 6" 9"; wings 3" 4".

a, b. Aru Islands. Procured from Mr. Wallace.

TODOPSIS CYANOCEPHALA.

RHIPIDURA ASSIMILIS.

Rhipidura assimilis, G. R. Gray, Proc. Z. S. 1858, p. 176.

Closely allied to R. isura, Gould (B. of Austr. ii. pl. 85), but rather larger, with the breast paler ; under wing-coverts buffy white, and the outer tail-feather with less white than in the Australian specimens.

a. Ké Island. Procured from Mr. Wallace.

RHIPIDURA MACULIPENNIS.

Rhipidura maculipennis, G. R. Gray, Proc. Z. S. 1858, p. 176.

♂. Deep black ; with a line from nostrils passing above the eyes, and a broad line proceeding from the base of the bill on each side of the throat, the tips of the feathers of breast, of tail, of the upper and under wing-coverts, white.

♀. Brownish black ; but similarly marked in other respects with white ; upper mandible and feet black, lower white.

Length 8" 8" ; wings 3" 2".

a, b. Aru Islands. Procured from Mr. Wallace.

RHIPIDURA ATRIPENNIS.

Rhipidura atripennis, G. R. Gray, Proc. Z. S. 1858, p. 175.

Closely allied to R. mimoides, Müll. MSS., but the black is altogether of a deeper hue, while the wings are of a decided black. These differences may be occasioned by the specimens from Aru being more matured.

Length 8" 9"; wings 4".

a. b. Aru Islands. Procured from Mr. Wallace.

MONARCHA GRISEOGULARIS.

Monarcha griseogularis, G. R. Gray, Proc. Z. S. 1858, p. 177.

♂. Plumbeous; quills fuscous, slightly margined with grey; some of the tail-coverts and tail deep black; throat plumbeous; ear-coverts and line under each eye black; a line from behind the eye and ending in a spot behind the ear-coverts, abdomen, under tail-coverts, and the tips of the three outer tail-feathers, white; breast mottled with white and pale rust-colour.

Length 6" 9"; wings 3".

a. Aru Islands. Procured from Mr. Wallace.

MONARCHA LEUCURA.

Monarcha leucura, G. R. Gray, Proc. Z. S. 1858, p. 178.

♂. Shining deep black; breast, abdomen and the four outer tail-feathers pure white, with the base of the latter more or less black.

♂ juv. Olivaceous plumbeous; top of head greyish plumbeous; middle tail-feathers deep black, the three outer feathers mostly pure white, with the base black; the fourth outer feather black, with white down the shaft and at the tip; chin greyish plumbeous, with a white streak down each feather.

Length 6" 3"; wings 3" 1".

a. Ké Island. Procured from Mr. Wallace.

MONARCHA MELANOPTERA.

Monarcha melanoptera, G. R. Gray, Proc. Z. S. 1858, p. 178.

Closely allied to M. trivirgata, Temm. (Gould, B. of Anstr. ii.

pl. 96), but the black on the forehead, over the eyes and ear-coverts, is posteriorly bordered with white ; the wing-coverts deep black.

Length 6"; wings 3" 3".

Paradisea apoda, Linn. S. N. i. p. 166.
a. New Guinea.
b. New Guinea. Presented by J. B. Kingdom, Esq.
c. New Guinea. From the Zoological Society's Collection.

Var. Wallaciana.

Paradisea apoda, var. Wallaciana, G. R. Gray, Proc. Z. S. 1858,
 p. 181.
Paradisea apoda, Less. Voy. de la Coqu. i. p. 526.

The "intensely shining orange-coloured" lateral plumes easily distinguish this bird from the specimens of P. apoda in the British Museum, and from the representations given in the works of Levaillant, Vieillot, and Lesson, &c. The yellow on the top of the head and back of neck is also of a much paler colour, both in the specimens with and without lateral plumes. In Forrest's 'Voyage to New Guinea' it is stated that the Great Bird of Paradise of Aroo migrated, "when the easterly or wet monsoon set in," to New Guinea ; but we learn from the interesting paper * of Mr. A. R. Wallace that this "is quite incorrect, as they are permanent residents in Aru, and the natives know nothing of their being found in New Guinea." The two differences previously mentioned, which were uniform in all the specimens sent home by Mr. Wallace, induce me to suppose that, if not a distinct species, it is at least a well-marked local variety of the Great Bird of Paradise.

a-c. Aru Islands. Procured from Mr. Wallace.
